WALKER BOOKS GROUP FICTION RIGHTS • 2018

This fiction rights leaflet proudly showcases the finest writers from Walker Books, Candlewick Press and Walker Books Australia.

The Walker Books Group is committed to building a legacy of long term partnerships with authors as well as seeking out new talent. This legacy has been recognized through awards and accolades like the Newbery Medal, the New York Times Bestsellers list, the Prime Minister's Literary Awards and the Guardian Children's Fiction Prize.

It is an honour to promote the stories of our diverse group of authors with the help of publishers around the world.

We look forward to discussing our fiction titles with you at Bologna (Hall 25, B75) or the London Book Fair (Children's Publishing Zone, Mezzanine, 1C30).

If you do not have a meeting, please feel free to contact us with any questions you may have.

And the Ocean Was Our Sky

Patrick Ness and Rovina Cai

"Call me Bathsheba."

So begins the highly anticipated new novel from the multi-award-winning Patrick Ness, a haunting and devastating tale of violent obsession that turns the story of Moby Dick upside down.

Walker Books is proud to be publishing this breath-taking novel. We hold world rights in the full-colour illustrations from talented newcomer Rovina Cai that bring incredible beauty and drama to this powerful book. Rights in the text are held by Michelle Kass Associates who are also handling the selling of foreign rights in illustrations on behalf of Walker Books.

WALKER BOOKS UK

This season we revel in the number of beautifully produced young illustrated titles and new author/illustrator collaborations as we welcome internationally acclaimed authors to the Walker list for the first time.

We also celebrate award-winning and bestselling authors such as Nicola Davies, Vivian French and Dyan Sheldon, who have been bringing quality and breadth to the Walker fiction and non-fiction lists for many years, and from whom a new book is always a treat.

Wherever their interests lie, children and young people can find something to inspire them in our books, whether it be a lively girls' football series, romantic sci-fi or compelling contemporary teen fiction from the digital generation. Everyone's following @WalkerYA!

The Dog Who Lost His Bark

Eoin Colfer and P.J. Lynch

A warm, uplifting story about a boy and his dog and the power of music to heal; a first-time collaboration from two Irish Children's Laureates. Patrick has been desperate for a dog of his own for as long as he can remember – and this summer, with his father away, he longs for a buddy more than ever. In his short doggy life, Oz has suffered at the hands of bad people. Somewhere out there, he believes, is an awesome boy – his boy. Maybe when they find each other he will learn to bark again ... Told in alternating viewpoints and richly illustrated in black and white by double Kate Greenaway Medal winner P.J. Lynch, presented in a classic gift format.

Captain Rosalie

Timothée de Fombelle and Isabelle Arsenault

An evocative and heart-wrenching WWI story by a celebrated French author and an award-winning French-Canadian illustrator. Rosalie is a captain on a very secret mission – a mission to teach herself to read. Mother reads often to Rosalie, especially Father's letters from the front line describing the forest in the distance and the soldiers hiding in holes. But as Rosalie gets further along in her mission and begins to piece together her father's letters, the truth about the consequences of war are finally and irrevocably revealed.

Our Jacko

Michael Morpurgo and David Gentleman

A young boy's reflection on WWI one hundred years on, with haunting illustrations from an acclaimed fine-artist. No one seems to know where the scruffy tin hat came from – just that it is very old, from some war long ago. Now it has its uses: as a child's toy, and later, littered as it is with holes, a hanging basket. Then young Michael discovers that it belonged to his great-great-grandfather, "Our Jacko", who lost his life at Ypres in 1915. As the boy digs deeper and learns more about the young soldier who died so tragically young – husband, father, poet, actor – it becomes clear just how he should be commemorated.

Joe Quinn's Poltergeist

David Almond and Dave McKean

A dark, powerful and moving short story from the internationally acclaimed author of Skellig. Joe Quinn tells everyone about the poltergeist in his house, but no one believes him. No one, that is, except for Davey. He's felt the inexplicable presence in the rooms, he's seen random objects fly through the air. And there's something else ... a memory of his beloved sister, and a feeling deep down that somehow it might be possible for ghosts to exist.

Voyages in the Underworld of Orpheus Black

Marcus Sedgwick, Julian Sedgwick and Alexis Deacon

In this elegantly written literary tour de force, award-winning authors Marcus Sedgwick and Julian Sedgwick and artist Alexis Deacon skilfully weave together a tapestry of voices to create a poignant, lyrical and dreamlike story of two brothers in conflict amidst the devastation of WWII. Strange and unsettling at times, but deeply moving, this exquisite book captures an intense connection between brothers propelled by an ancient mythical force.

Julius Zebra: Grapple with the Greeks!

Gary Northfield

Demi-god Heracles promises Julius and his chums a great reward if they can help him to find the lost Golden Apple. On this madcap fourth adventure, our unlikely heroes will confront the Minotaur in the labyrinth, trick a one-hundred-headed dragon at the Garden of Hesperides and rescue Julius's brother Brutus from the Underworld after he has been struck by King Midas's golden touch. But what will the ever-watchful gods on Mount Olympus have to say about their antics?

These hugely enjoyable chapter books are absolutely essential reading for fans of action-packed stories and VERY silly humour. Brimming with hilarious pictures and perfectly timed, laugh-out-loud dialogue, Julius Zebra is the go-to series for learning ancient history by stealth!

The Steam Whistle Theatre Company

Vivian French

Dark and deadly deeds, piratical plots, lost heiresses and poor little orphans... Vivian French conjures up the very spirit of Victorian England in The Steam Whistle Theatre Company, a high-octane, high-drama romp following the adventures of a travelling theatre-troupe. Her first standalone novel for middle-grade readers, this is a thrilling departure – don't miss the ride!

Vivian has sold over 4 million books worldwide; her work includes fiction for all ages, characterized by wit, warmth and superb storytelling. Recent standouts include her junior-fiction titles with illustrator Marta Kissi: The Adventures of Alfie Onion and The Cherry Pie Princess are fairy tales for the modern age, spellbinding adventures through magical worlds of princesses and palaces, ogres and trolls, fairies and witches.

This Halloween, they're joined by Tom & Tallulah and the Witches' Feast. Tom and Tallulah's beloved grandmother has been cursed by a wicked witch – and is slowly turning into a chicken! Can they hatch a plan to save her before time runs out?

Girls F.C. 1: Do Goalkeepers Wear Tiaras?

Helena Pielichaty

Nine-year-old Megan loves football and is desperate to be on her school team. She tries everything to get the coach to notice her (even wearing a tiara), but nothing seems to do the trick. Then she has her big brainwave: she could start her own football team. An all-girls team! Now she just needs a pitch, a coach – oh, and ten other players...

Women's football has gone from strength to strength in recent years, and the women's World Cup now attracts an enormous TV audience; the record stands at 750 million viewers, tuning in from all around the globe. This twelve-book series puts women's football front and centre: each charmingly written story focuses on a different member of the team and a different issue. Helena expertly, sensitively covers sexism, xenophobia and struggles with learning difficulties, while weaving together a satisfying plot every time. These gently funny, empowering books are perfect for fans of the sport – and especially fans of the Football School series, keen to find their next read!

Ariki and the Giant Shark

Nicola Davies and Nicola Kinnear

Washed up on Turtle Island as a toddler, Ariki has always felt different from the other children. But there's somewhere she belongs heart and soul: the sea, where she plays with dolphins, sharks, whales and turtles... From multi-award-winning author Nicola Davies, Ariki and the Giant Shark and its sequel Ariki and the Island of Wonders are strikingly original stories but have the feel of classics; Ariki's home is a timeless paradise, and children are sure to fall under the spell of this cheeky, charming little girl.

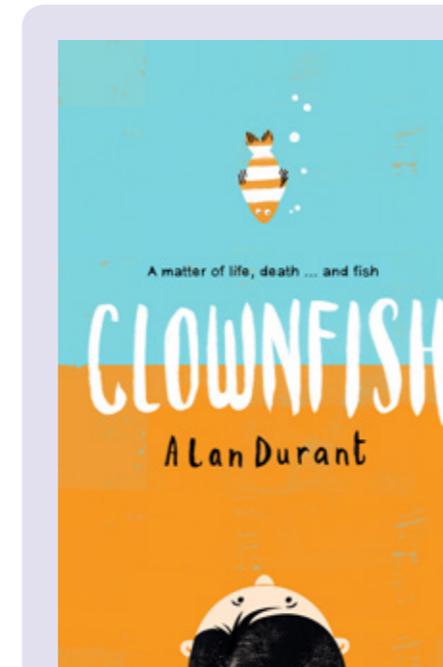

The natural world and its creatures sit at the heart of all Nicola's work, fiction and non-fiction. In 2017 she became the first ever recipient of the School Library Association's Award for Outstanding Contribution to Information Books; the SLA judges described her writing as being of an "extraordinarily high quality ... beautiful, encouraging a sense of wonder".

Clownfish

Alan Durant

"What's it like, Dad – being a fish?" Since Dak's dad died from a heart attack, nothing has seemed real to him. Desperate for some kind of escape, he heads for the local aquarium – his dad's favourite place to visit. There, to his shock, delight and fierce relief, he finds his dad alive and well ... as a clownfish! This new novel is a startlingly original study of grief and denial, by turns witty, charming and haunting – perfect for fans of Wonder.

Pony on the Twelfth Floor

Polly Faber and Sarah Jennings

A charming story of a girl, a high rise, and one very inappropriate pet, from the author of the Mango & Bambang series.

Kizzy thought she had dreamed of every possible way she might get a pony. She'd never expected to pick one up from the supermarket. There's just one small problem: how do you keep a pony in a twelfth-floor flat without your mum finding out? A hilarious illustrated tale about following your dreams – no matter how far-fetched they seem.

256 pages • 8 years + • July 2018 • World rights available

Hello, I Must Be Going

Dyan Sheldon

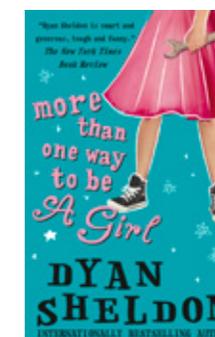

Celeste and Sorrel, Reuben and Orlando: high school friends who hang out together all the time. When Sorrel gets hit by a car one rainy night, it's not surprising the others fall apart in various ways. But it's not just grief they're struggling with – it's parents. Unfair, demanding, challenging parents who are, quite frankly, making their lives a misery. That's why Sorrel decides she's not going to be properly dead till she's sorted out her friends' lives and can leave them with a clearer sense of what they want out of life.

Author of the bestselling Confessions of a Teenage Drama Queen, which was made into a film starring Lindsay Lohan, Dyan Sheldon's writing demonstrates an apparently effortless ability to see life from a teenager's point of view. Her latest, Hello, I Must Be Going, is a tender, comedic ghost story – perfect for fans of Rainbow Rowell.

The Quiet at the End of the World

Lauren James

Lauren James's fourth novel is a fast-paced, filmic sci-fi adventure about the last surviving members of the human race. Lowrie and Shen are the youngest people in the world after a virus caused global infertility. When the virus mutates to become even more deadly, the pair face a future entirely alone unless they can find a cure.

Lauren was just sixteen when she started writing her debut novel, The Next Together, in her English class at school, because she couldn't stop thinking about a couple who kept falling in love throughout history. It was published when she was 22 and was longlisted for the 2015 Branford Boase Award; its sequel, The Last Beginning, was named one of the best LGBT-inclusive works for kids and young adults by the Independent.

Lauren's third novel, The Loneliest Girl in the Universe, was inspired by a Physics calculation she was assigned at university. Lauren is a passionate advocate of STEM further education, and all of her books feature scientists in prominent roles. She is very active on social media with a big presence on Tumblr: @Lauren_E_James

Little Lunch Series

Danny Katz and Mitch Vane

This is what happened during Little Lunch: Rory forgot to bring his playlunch, Tamara Noodle refused to let Melanie use the monkey bars and Mrs Gonsha got stuck at the top of the slide. A lot can happen in fifteen minutes! Each hilarious book in this illustrated series is based on the Australian mockumentary comedy TV show that has been praised as "The Office, in the playground". The Emmy-nominated Little Lunch TV series has won many international awards, including Best Fiction Program at Prix Jeunesse. It currently airs on Netflix in the US, UK and Ireland, and also screens on TV in Canada, Slovenia, Sweden, Hong Kong and Portugal.

CANDLEWICK
PRESS

CANDLEWICK PRESS

As Candlewick enters its second quarter-century, our fiction program features some of America's most beloved writers, including two National Ambassadors for Young People's Literature, a number of National Book Award honorees, and more than fifty-two New York Times best-selling titles and series. One of our most beloved best-selling series, Judy Moody by Megan McDonald, is receiving a vibrant new livery this year, in celebration of its fast-approaching twentieth anniversary in print!

We are passionate about producing titles that are a joy to hold as well as to read and share, and thus pay very careful attention to the quality of our illustration and manufacturing as well. In 2018, The Assassination of Brangwain Spurge by M.T. Anderson and Eugene Yelchin is an extraordinary collaboration that we hope showcases our commitment to this principle. From breaking out newer voices such as Cuban-American Meg Medina's first middle-grade novel or Coretta Scott King Honoree's Tanya McKinnon's first solo effort, to proudly sharing the new works of established writers such as Kate DiCamillo and Pete Hautman, we hope that the rest of our list in 2018/2019 has an array of titles to suit all variety of tastes. Have a browse, enjoy, and let us know if you have any questions!

Louisiana's Way Home

Kate DiCamillo

From two-time Newbery Medalist Kate DiCamillo comes a story of discovering who you are – and deciding who you want to be.

When Louisiana Elefante's granny wakes her up in the middle of the night to tell her that the day of reckoning has arrived and they have to leave home immediately, Louisiana isn't overly worried. After all, Granny has many middle-of-the-night ideas. But this time, things are different. This time, Granny intends for them never to return. Separated from her best friends, Raymie and Beverly, Louisiana struggles to oppose the winds of fate (and Granny) and find a way home. But as Louisiana's life becomes entwined with the lives of the people of a small Georgia town – including a surly motel owner, a walrus-like minister, and a mysterious boy with a crow on his shoulder – she starts to worry that she is destined only for goodbyes. (Which could be due to the curse on Louisiana and Granny's heads. But that is a story for another time.) Called "one of DiCamillo's most singular and arresting creations" by The New York Times Book Review, the heartbreakingly irresistible Louisiana Elefante was introduced to readers in Raymie Nightingale – and now, with humor and tenderness, Kate DiCamillo returns to tell her story.

Raymie Nightingale

Kate DiCamillo

A 2016 National Book Award Finalist.

Kate DiCamillo returns to her roots with a moving, masterful story of an unforgettable summer friendship. Raymie Clarke has come to realize that everything, absolutely everything, depends on her. And she has a plan. If Raymie can win the Little Miss Central Florida Tire competition, then her father, who left town two days ago with a dental hygienist, will see Raymie's picture in the paper and (maybe) come home. To win, not only does Raymie have to do good deeds and learn how to twirl a baton; she also has to contend with the wispy, frequently fainting Louisiana Elefante, who has a show-business background, and the fiery, stubborn Beverly Tapinski, who's determined to sabotage the contest. But as the competition approaches, loneliness, loss, and unanswerable questions draw the three girls into an unlikely friendship – and challenge each of them to come to the rescue in unexpected ways.

The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane

Kate DiCamillo and Bagram Ibatoulline

A lyrical odyssey by two-time Newbery Medalist Kate DiCamillo. Once, in a house on Egypt Street, there lived a china rabbit named Edward Tulane. The rabbit was very pleased with himself, and for good reason: he was owned by a girl named Abilene, who adored him completely. And then, one day, he was lost. . . . Kate DiCamillo takes us on an extraordinary journey, from the depths of the ocean to the net of a fisherman, from the bedside of an ailing child to the bustling streets of Memphis. Along the way, we are shown a miracle – that even a heart of the most breakable kind can learn to love, to lose, and to love again. Featuring black-and-white illustrations and a refreshed cover by Bagram Ibatoulline.

Cody and the Heart of a Champion

Tricia Springstubb and Eliza Wheeler

Winter is finally melting into spring – but with everything in flux, from Cody's friendships down to her shoe size, will she be able to stay true to herself? In Cody's life, some people keep her on her toes – just like Mother Nature, who is warm one day and snowy the next. Or like Cody's brother, Wyatt, who has started wearing collared shirts because his girlfriend likes them. Meanwhile, Pearl has begun playing soccer and it's all she can talk about. Spencer is busy creating a mysterious museum underneath GG's house and he's never around to play. And Spencer's mom doesn't look any different. . . . Could she really have a baby growing inside her? Maybe the baby is like Cody's beloved ants, waiting patiently inside the earth for spring to arrive. It seems like everything around Cody is changing – from seasons to friendships – but if she can just navigate it all with her trademark enthusiasm and charm, maybe the most important things will stay the same.

Merci Suárez Changes Gears

Meg Medina

Thoughtful, strong-willed sixth grader Merci Suárez navigates difficult changes with friends and family in a resonant new middle-grade novel from Meg Medina. Merci Suárez knew that sixth grade would be different, but she had no idea just how different. For starters, Merci has never been like the other kids at her private school in Florida, because she is a scholarship student. And then bossy Edna Santos sets her sights on the new boy, who happens to be Merci's school-assigned Sunshine Buddy, so Merci becomes the target of Edna's jealousy. Everything feels stressful at home, too: Merci's beloved grandfather, Lolo, has been forgetting important things, falling from his bike, and getting angry over nothing at all, but no one in her family will tell Merci anything about what's going on. In a coming-of-age story full of humor and wisdom, award-winning author Meg Medina gets to the heart of the confusion and change that defines the tween years – and the steadfast connection that defines family.

Yaqui Delgado Wants to Kick Your Ass

Meg Medina

Winner of the 2014 Pura Belpré Author Award.

A Latina teen is targeted by a bully at her new school – and must discover resources she never knew she had in this compelling novel.

One morning before school, some girl tells Piddy Sanchez that Yaqui Delgado hates her and wants to kick her ass. Piddy doesn't even know who Yaqui is, never mind what she's done to piss her off, though she soon hears that Yaqui thinks Piddy is stuck-up, shakes her stuff when she walks, and isn't Latin enough with her white skin, good grades, and no accent. At first Piddy is more concerned with trying to find out more about the father she's never met and how to balance honors courses with her weekend job at the neighborhood hair salon. But as the harassment escalates, avoiding Yaqui and her gang starts to take over Piddy's life. In an all-too-realistic novel, Meg Medina portrays a sympathetic heroine who is forced to decide who she is and what's worth fighting for.

My Year in the Middle

Lila Quintero Weaver

Can sixth-grader Lu Olivera find the courage to stand up for what's right and to choose friends who do the same? Lu's old friends have been changing lately – acting boy crazy and making snide remarks about Lu's newfound talent for running track. Her secret hope for a new friend is fellow runner Belinda Gresham, but in 1970 Red Grove, Alabama, blacks and whites don't mix. As the political situation in Alabama heats up, growing tensions in the state – and in the classroom – mean that Lu can't stay neutral about the racial divide at school. Will she be brave enough to pick a side, or will she stay stuck in the middle?

Zora and Me: The Cursed Ground

T.R. Simon

Set in the hometown of American author Zora Neale Hurston, these coming-of-age stories are the only projects ever to be endorsed by the Zora Neale Hurston Trust that were not written by Hurston herself. The layers of Eatonville's origins begin to peel away and reveal themselves to Zora, Carrie, and Teddy when an old tragedy comes back to haunt an elderly neighbor. A stark reminder that history is a living, breathing entity of which we are each an indispensable part.

My Brigadista Year

Katherine Paterson

In an engrossing novel, the Newbery Medal-winning author of Bridge to Terabithia follows a young Cuban teenager as she volunteers for Fidel Castro's national literacy campaign and travels into the impoverished countryside to teach others how to read. When thirteen-year-old Lora tells her parents that she wants to join Castro's army of young literacy teachers, her mother screeches to high heaven, and her father roars like a lion. Nora has barely been outside of Havana – why would she throw away her life in a remote shack with no electricity, sleeping on a hammock in somebody's kitchen? But Nora is stubborn: didn't her parents teach her to share what she has with someone in need? Surprisingly, Nora's grandmother takes her side, even as she makes Nora promise to come home if things get too hard. But how will Nora know for sure when that time has come? Shining light on a little-known moment in history, Katherine Paterson traces a young teen's coming-of-age journey from a sheltered life to a singular mission: teaching fellow Cubans of all ages to read and write, while helping with the work of their daily lives and sharing the dangers posed by counterrevolutionaries hiding in the hills nearby. Inspired by true accounts.

The Button War

Avi

One of America's most celebrated authors.

Award-winning author Avi pens a stark, unflinching tale of ordinary boys living in wartime as tensions – and desperations – mount among them. Twelve-year-old Patryk knows little of the world beyond his tiny Polish village. He and his friends entertain themselves by coming up with dares until the Germans drop a bomb on the schoolhouse and the Great War comes crashing in. As control of the village falls from one nation to another, Jurek, the ringleader of these friends, devises the best dare yet: whichever boy steals the finest military button will be king. When devastation reaches their doorstep, the lines between the button war and the real war blur, especially for the increasingly callous Jurek.

Otherwood

Pete Hautman

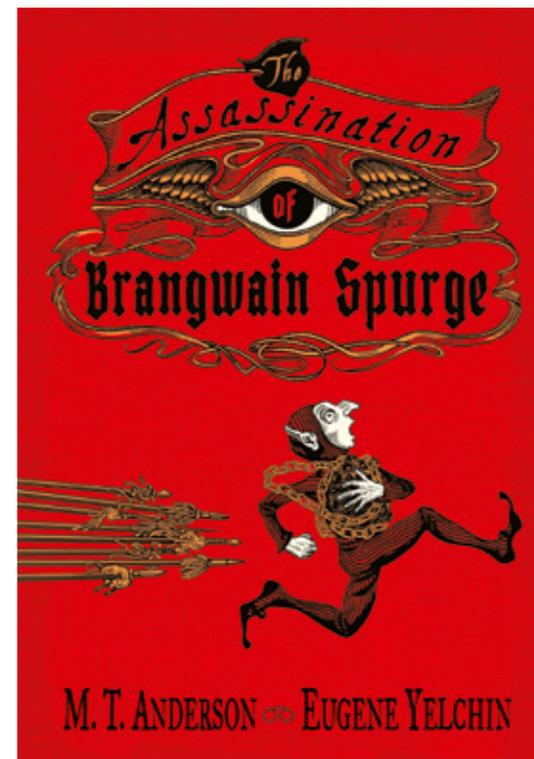

"Hatred combined with lies and secrets can break the world." Grandpa Zach used to say that before he died, but Stuey never really knew what he meant. It was kind of like how he used to talk about quantum physics or how he used to say ghosts haunted their overgrown golf course. But then one day, long after Stuey meets his best friend, Elly Rose, and after they spend countless afternoons in the deadfall in the middle of the woods, something totally unbelievable happens. As Stuey and Elly Rose struggle to come to grips with their lives after that reality-splitting moment, all the things Grandpa Zach used to say start to make a lot more sense. This is a book about memory and loss and the destructive nature of secrets, but also about the way friendship, truth, and perseverance have the ability to knit a torn-apart world back together.

The Assassination of Brangwain Spurge

M.T. Anderson and Eugene Yelchin

Subverting convention, M.T. Anderson and Eugene Yelchin pair up for an anarchic saga of warring elf and goblin kingdoms.

Uptight elfin historian Brangwain Spurge is on a mission: survive being catapulted across the mountains into goblin territory, deliver a priceless peace offering to their mysterious dark lord, and spy on the goblin kingdom. Brangwain's host, the goblin archivist Werfel, is delighted to show Brangwain around. They should be the best of friends, but a series of double crosses, blunders, and cultural misunderstandings throw these two bumbling scholars into the middle of an international crisis. Witty illustrations show Brangwain's furtive missives back to the elf kingdom, while Werfel's determinedly unbiased narrative tells a different story. A hilarious and biting social commentary that could only come from the likes of National Book Award winner M.T. Anderson and Newbery Honor winner Eugene Yelchin, this tale is rife with thrilling action and visual humor . . . and suggests the ultimate victor in a war is who gets to write the history.

Landscape with Invisible Hand

M.T. Anderson

National Book Award winner M.T. Anderson returns to future earth in a sharply wrought satire of art and truth in the midst of colonization.
